BSN Medical Ltd - Cutimed Sorbact

A potentially useful new concept but insufficiently validated; more research and development is required before it is ready for evaluation in practice. (recommendation 3)

This product is a hydrophobic wound dressing designed for use on open wounds with exudate.

The efficacy of this product appears to be well established as a wound dressing, however controlled studies demonstrating superiority in infected wound healing and confirmation that the spread and/or acquisition of and associated HCAs organisms is reduced by this approach were absent.
